ABOUT THE STATE

State Forester A. W. Hawes, who is to reside in Burlington, will arrive in that city April 1 to assume his duties.

Brattleboro real estate agents note a marked increase in the demand for tenements, the supply of which is limited.

The statement that Joseph W. Lawrence had leased the Mountain Spring Hotel at Lake Dunmore proves to be incorrect.

The following appointment has been made in the rural letter carrier forces for Vermont: Windham-M. H. Ingalls, carrier; Eva E. Ingalls, substitute, route No. 1.

In recognition of the generosity to Smith college of Mrs. Ephraim Morris, whose funeral was held at Hartford on Saturday afternoon, one of the dormitories at the college bears the name of Morris.

West Dummerston's Grange hall is practically completed and East Dummerston will begin building a similar structure right away. The store formerly standing on the latter lot was occupied years ago by the Birchard Brothers, uncles of President Rutherford B. Hayes.

A record herd of deer was seen last week on Daniel M. Barber's farm in the north part of Brattleboro. It consisted of 24 bucks, does and fawns, all browsing contentedly in the sugar orchard. Large herds are seen with increasing frequency in the southern part of the state.

Ludlow shippers are doing a big business these days, eight or ten freight cars sent there recently at their request finding no room in the railroad yards, as the space was already occupied by cars being loaded with pulp wood, lumber, chairs, and other commodities.

Among the 21 girls elected from a senior class of 470 at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the national society to which only college students of the highest standing are eligible, is one from Vermont, Miss Florence Eva Paine of White River Junction. Election to the society is made on a basis of scholarship throughout the entire college course.

In the Vermont department of the Grand Army of the Republic, deaths have been more numerous than additions since 1890, when the organization reached its highest enrollment, with 112 posts and a membership of 5,473. December 31, 1907, it had 2,797 members in 92 posts.
In 1875 there were 561 comrades in 13 posts. A steady growth was noted until 1882, when the posts numbered 47. The following year 27 new posts were formed, the next year nine, and that after several a year was the record.
